TO THE MEMORY

OF THOSE OF OUR NUMBER WHO HAVE PASSED ON,

THIS VOLUME IS DEDICATED,

WITH A KINSMAN'S REGARD,

BY THE COMPILER.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SARGENT FAMILY.

It is now three and a half years since the collection of the records comprised in this volume was commenced; and it has not been accomplished without much perplexity. That the work is even now imperfect is not to be doubted.

Should this book fall into the hands of any member of the family who may find the record of his particular branch incomplete, to him it may be said that no pains has been spared to obtain a full record of his particular branch; but, it would seem, without avail.

To those who have aided in this work, either by furnishing records, or by kind acts, advice or encouragement, the writer would say that he fully appreciates their favors.

The compiler would be pleased to receive further records of the family, and may be addressed at Boston, Mass.

SARGENT.

William Sargent, the first ancestor of our family in this country, came from England in the year 1638, was admitted a member of the church in Charlestown, Mass., March 10th, 1639, and his wife, Sarah, the Sunday following. He was made a freeman of Massachusetts Colony the same year. They resided at Mystic-side, (now Malden,) where he was a lay preacher from 1648 to 1650; and is mentioned by Johnson, in his "Wonder Working Providence," page 211, as a "Godly Christian."

William was made a freeman of Plymouth Colony in 1658, having removed, probably in 1657, to Barnstable, where he died Dec. 16th, 1682, and his wife Jan. 12th, $168\frac{8}{9}$.

From a letter written by him after his removal to Barnstable, to his friend, Mr. Joseph Hills, of Malden, of which the following is a copy, the annexed fac-simile of his signature was obtained. The letter relates to the collection of the rent of a farm in Malden.

Reu^{t} and Beloued Mr. Joseph Hills after my Xtian salute of yoer self and 2nd selfe with harty acknoledgm^{t} of your curteous and liberal entertainment of vs always togeth^{r} with yor forward and ready mind vpon al my addresses to bestead me at this distance I am yet further bold to acquaint you how it stands with "The House and land at Maulden according to the information we have from John Searjeant, besides what John Sarjeant hath added to it £176.00.00"

The farm at Malden, given to John Sargent, in the will, was owned by William as early as 1649, — and perhaps earlier, — with the exception of eight acres southwest of and adjoining his own land, which he purchased in 1654. It was on a hill in the southerly part of the town, about one and a half miles northeast from Malden Bridge, and is now intersected by the Newburyport turnpike.

John, by deed of gift, in 1708, gave part of the house, (balance of house to his wife, in his will,) and "all the land adjoining that was my father William Sargeant's" to his sons Jonathan and Ebenezer, who divided the same in 1720; Jonathan retaining the southerly portion, with parts of the buildings, and Ebenezer retaining the northerly portion, with the "east ends" of the buildings.

Jonathan, in 1735, gave a quarter of an acre of his part, "in the southerly part of Malden," "being part of my homestead whereon now I dwell," with a road twenty-six feet wide to the highway, to the "Inhabitants of the southerly part of Malden for a Meeting House."

Ebenezer, in 1736, sold land "received from my father by deed of gift, being the homestead;" and describes it as being bounded on the south and southwest by the Meetinghouse and the way to the Meetinghouse; and, as his part of the estate was the northerly part, it may be inferred that the Meetinghouse was near the centre of the whole farm.

Near the former site of the Meetinghouse, and south from it, now stands an old, dilapidated, unpainted house, which, there is much reason for believing, was the residence of the first three generations of the family. It certainly was occupied by members of the three succeeding generations.

No part of the place is now in the possession of any member of the family.

The orthography of the name seems to have varied, not only with the different early members of the family, but also — according to time — with the same members.

The most common spelling previous to the commencement of the present century (and, perhaps, the most correct,) was Sargeant; and this method is still retained by some branches of the family, though a majority of the living members omit the latter vowel in the final syllable.

NOTE.

(From the Worcester Spy of Sept. 3, 1853.)

There was a pleasant gathering of [the Leicester branch of] the SARGENT family, on Wednesday, Sept. 1st, at the homestead in Cherry Valley, Leicester. NATHAN SARGENT [No. 41] removed to the town [from Malden] in 1741. His son JOHN [No. 133] succeeded him; who, in his turn, was followed by his son SEWALL [No. 322], the present resident there, and owner of the farm; so that the family tree has been planted there for three generations.

The company of minute men which started for the American head-quarters from Leicester on the receipt of the news of the battle of Lexington, on their way had breakfast there. Ammunition was scarce; but while they ate, Mrs. SARGENT melted the clock weights to furnish them with lead. Such was the fore*mother* of this branch.

But the company of which we are speaking required and received quite other aid. As no room in the house was large enough, a table was made in the barn, extending from end to end. H. E. SARGENT, Esq., [No. 633] of Boston, presided. Family reminiscences, local incidents and toasts were in order. Among those who contributed to the social and intellectual feast were Major General S. ANDREWS, of Roxbury [son of No. 316] and Mr. AARON SARGENT, of Somerville [No. 816], both of whom have done labors of love in preparing genealogical charts of the family; Messrs. DAVID ANDREWS, of Hingham, [No. 316] the venerable and beloved head of a numerous branch; J. SARGENT SMITH [son of 321] and our host of Leicester; H. A. DENNY and A. FIRTH, of Worcester; Mr. CUTTING, of Oakdale [son of 318]; Mr. JOSEPH BUCKLEY, of Boston, as well as others. What remained of the afternoon was occupied in visiting the various places which had a family interest; and the evening — fit close of such a day — was passed at the house of Mrs. ASA SARGENT [No. 315].

We trust such reunions may become one of our institutions; and that hearts may be so enlarged by them that even outsiders, as in this instance, gladly confess a pretty strong family feeling. F.
